COVER DESIGN—On the cover seal, the tree represents strength, moral, mental, physical; the pickaxe symbolizes persistence of purpose; the shovel means labor; and the grass signifies faith.

We, the Class of 1949, wish to dedicate this yearbook to Miss Alice M. White, one of the faculty advisers of the Reflector. Her untiring assistance and effort in helping us to have an outstanding publication have been priceless. With this dedication, we thank you, Miss White, for all the time and labor you have spent, both as a teacher and as an adviser, to better equip us for the world of responsibility and toil which we are now entering.

The following few pages are formally dedicated to the history of the Class of 1949, and anyone not in that distinguished group (correction, please—anyone who reads it) is liable to be sentenced to a period of not more than fifteen, nor less than five minutes of boredom.

Of course, the above paragraph is written in jest. For in the following pages of black print, there are many words that help to recapitulate unforgetful events that occurred during the four, wonderful years that we, the graduating class of '49, spent together.

It is not an easy task, as Mr. Kearns will testify, to express in an interesting way those events that will be forever dear to us. Our class history is written in an indirect way. The eventful parts of our four years at W.H.S. are written so as to coincide with a series of events that also took place in the year '49, one century earlier, 1849, when gold was discovered in the Sacramento Valley of California. To California many thousands of people went by wagon across the plains from the North, the East, and the South, always subject to the attacks of Indians and death by starvation or thirst.

Their journey to the West is not much unlike our four-year journey through Weymouth High School. While they had hoped to attain at the end of their long and perilous trip a "pot of gold", we dreamed of the great, now historical day, when we would receive our sheepskins. So remember as you read this class history, to try to synchronize the two expeditions.

STAGES ONE AND TWO

Notice was given by Mr. Mapes of a caravan forming for a trip to the gold country in September of 1945. All interested members were to report to rooms 101-206A of Weymouth High School for further information.

A Maroon and Gold circular containing instructions and directions relating to the four-year journey to be undertaken was given to those reporting. The head coachman, Mr. Whittle, with his assistants, welcomed the pioneers, who were just starting on their perilous journey. Supplies were given to all, and the forty-niners who had assembled from the various sections were soon well acquainted.

When the caravan began to move onward, various reactions were noted among the group. Most were extremely serious, being frightened by the size of the caravan and by the numerous rumors they had heard about all the impending dangers. Our first difficulty occurred when a group that had been sent out for food failed to return, so a scouting party had to be dispatched to locate them. They were finally safely returned to wagons No. 101 and No. 114. (Remember those split lunches?) However, after miles of walking, pushing, and riding in those hard uncomfortable wagons, all became adapted to the routine of the trip.

The first two years of the undertaking were rather uneventful. Each year followed more or less the same routine. To break the monotony, however, sports events were planned with a series of football games being played when other caravans were met along the route. Thanksgiving Day was celebrated by our team, coached by Paul Sweeney, playing a team from Cronin's Creek. To pep up the group and to cheer the team on to victory, a Booster's Club was formed under the leadership of Miss Toomey and Mr. Ghiorse. Once a week this group provided pre-game entertainment by a series of skits which were usually presented at some lodge along the route. The season closed by paying honor to the athletes by a banquet, at which awards were given to the most outstanding ones, followed a few days later by a "Victory Dance" which all who attended greatly enjoyed.

During the winter season, a new group, the Chess Club, was organized by Mr. Matthews to provide entertainment for chess players and any interested spectators. The leaders were Bob McCarthy, Robert Marr, Allan Patterson, and Ronnie Bresnahan.

Travelling along, we found a number of musically talented people with us. At various times, they provided entertainment while we sat around the campfires. In appreciation of such, money was obtained to purchase colorful maroon and gold uniforms for these entertainers.

On our journey, we found sorrow occasionally interrupting our happiness. Such was the case when death took Mr. Calderwood, who, for a great number of years, had aided musical groups in our home sections. A short time before, everyone had been greatly shocked by the loss of one of our automobile mechanics leaders, Mr. Bryan.

The first stage of our trip was broken by a ten-week rest stop, during which time fresh supplies were taken on and general repairs were made. Some desired to leave the caravan at this time. Among them were Miss Chase, Miss Jones, Miss Pray, Mrs. Oppler, and Mr. Matthews. There were a number of people who had listened to our stories of adventure and, as a result, wanted to continue along with us. Lacking facilities, we could take only a few, including Mr. Erwin, Miss MacDougall, Miss Salo, and Miss Ghiorse. Mr. Cleaves, who had been detained in protecting a section of our route against an Indian raid, rejoined us early in the year, followed a little later by Mr. Arlanson.

STAGE THREE

The beginning of our third year found us just packing up to leave the Weymouth Hotel in Kansas City, Kansas. Some of us had been fortunate in being assigned to rooms freshly painted in rather unusual colors, rose, blue, or green. During our stay there, more changes took place with Mr. Loud, Miss Silverman, Miss Pearson, and Mr. Sherwood leaving us, but in return, Miss Hill, Miss Gill, Mr. Stuart, Miss Flaherty, Mr. Pieper, Mr. Roy, Mr. Rudolph, and Mr. Dwyer joined us.

En route, the group, weary of the constant toil of travel, decided to take time out for recreation. The caravan divided into a number of different teams called Brockton, Weymouth, Quincy, North Quincy, Abington, Hingham, etc. to play a series of football games. Our spectacular Weymouth team under Co-captains Coveney and Bicknell won by a score of 7 to 0, over the Brockton team. At other times during the trip, brief encounters were held among the caravan groups and, at the end of the series of games, two trophies were awarded; one to John DiGravio, the other to Jimmy Coveney. To build up enthusiasm, three of our members, Barbara Weidman, Janet Melville, and Ann Russo, were selected to head a cheering section.

In one town where we stopped, the people were experimenting with a newspaper called the Spectator, which was later discontinued because most of the townspeople moved westward with the gold rush.

The carpentry and repair crew stopped off for a short time at the foothills of the Rockies to build a house for one of the caravan leaders, Mr. Driscoll, who had found the basis for his dreams in one of the small mining towns we passed.

During the Christmas season of our third year, the entire caravan was again deeply saddened by the accidental death of one of the outstanding members of wagon No. 223, Ethel Voigt.

So again our wagon wheels rolled westward. On our way we elected officers. The outcome was: John Sheehan, president; John McIntosh, vice-president; Helen McGlynn, secretary; and John Chase, treasurer. The maintenance and repair crew chose Frank Colby, president; Lawrence Raby, vice-president; and Edward White, secretary-treasurer.

It was a stormy, rainy night on May 4, 1948 as we took lodging in Denver, Colorado. To relieve the strain of our hardships, a party was held. The building was gaily decorated with marine decorations and sea growths. George McCue's orchestra supplied the music. Joan Freeman and Eddie DeLuca were crowned king and queen in the elimination dance. Other entertainment included songs by Peggy Miller, Phyllis McKenney, Shirley Lynch, and Paul Clark, skits by Evelyn Murphy and Ann Sheehan, and solos by Mr. Lynch, the janitor. Verna MacDonald and Barbara Nelson entertained with piano selections. One of the most enjoyable numbers was the tap dancing duet given by Barbara Weidman and Lorraine Raymond.

Living conditions were vastly different in the frontier towns through which we passed. One day we gathered at the general store and listened to stories of the adventuresome people who had settled in the region. They told us all kinds of interesting stories about their lives, the possibilities of making a living, the advantages and disadvantages of such a way of living.

It was not until we were moving along toward Salt Lake City that we found there were some outstanding in scholastic ability with us. Among these was a business student, Alice Akie, who had passed the 120-word Gregg Shorthand Certificate test given by Miss Noris. This was the first time in school history that anyone had ever past that test in the junior year. In our caravan was a boy, Robert Marr, who had been presented a book from a Harvard society for his outstanding ability.

To celebrate our rapid progress during the past year, a part of the group went on a scouting party to explore the surrounding territory, finally arriving at a place called Crescent Park. After a long, dusty ride, the water looked most refreshing; so immediately a couple of the more rugged pioneers plunged in only to hear to their regret that the water was polluted. Then a long, dusty trip back to camp.

STAGE FOUR

The summer months flew by and fall was soon again with us. Since our wagons had to be repaired at this time, a small caravan including Mrs. Masters, Mrs. Leydon, Mr. Annis, Mr. Carlson, Mr. Henley, Miss Pearson, Mr. Dicker, Mr. Whitmore, and Mr. Kearns caught up with us. While sitting around our campfire, we were entertained by stories of England as told by Mr. Dicker and Miss Pearson. Mr. Mitchell found a profitable place to settle; so he left the group before reaching the destination. Construction men were in great demand throughout this region of great opportunities so Mr. Rudolph and Mr. Pieper also decided to leave us.

Upon returning to our caravan, we were pleasantly surprised to find many new facilities, which made the remainder of our journey more comfortable, and to notice the attractive interior decorations.

Early in November, we decided it was time for us to do some thinking about our future. We knew it would be wise for us to listen to the advice of those more experienced. So in the small mining town of Gutterson's Gulch, we gathered round our caravan while a group of experienced men from the town talked to us about the possibilities which would present themselves after we had reached our destination.

Mr. Kelly, one of our drivers, remained behind when the caravan moved on to help defend the settlers against the Indians.

On November 17, another stop was made at Reflector Lake to replenish our supply of water. At this time, a feast was held for those members of our own and other caravans in this section who had managed the literary efforts.

At various times, the work of the long, weary journey was somewhat lessened by pleasant athletic activities, provided by small units of the caravan. In honor of those participating in these events, a get-together was held at Victory Valley, during which awards were given to the most outstanding in these activities, Neil Russo and Bobby Hackett. The following night everyone enjoyed listening and dancing to the music of Art Jackson's orchestra, and, in the morning, we continued on our journey. Because of the outstanding way in which we had performed these sports, we were informed while on our way that we were now rated as Class A.

After continuing along our way, we stopped on December 21 to celebrate the Christmas season. In the evening, we gathered round the campfire and exchanged gifts with Mr. Brown, one of our drivers, as old St. Nick. Refreshments were enjoyed, and entertainment was provided by members of our caravan. We rested for a few days, thoroughly enjoying the holiday and then continued on our hazardous journey.

On January 14, a stop was required for a few days because of bad weather. To break the monotony of the delay, a concert was presented by the musically talented members of the caravan. Given under the able leadership of Mr. Russell Jack, with specialties by a brass quartet and a string trio, it was enjoyed by all who attended.

All felt recognition should be given to the young lady in the caravan outstanding in dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. This honor was given Janet Heaver. A selection was also made to determine a person qualified at studying the plans for a good form of government in our future settlement. Neil Russo was our choice for this.

The caravan stopped two nights at Dramatown, where a play entitled "The Fighting Li.tles" was being presented. Most of our group attended one of the performances, in which Joan Freeman, Barbara Nelson, and Allan Patterson starred.

On April 29, the caravan found reason for an all-out celebration since we had crossed the crest of the Sierras, and the gold country was at last in sight. How should we celebrate? Finally we decided upon a gala affair at which we all enjoyed ourselves listening and dancing to the soft strains of the latest hit tunes.

On June 22, tired and weary, we reached our destination, Sheepskin Valley. Under thte able leadership of our officers, our journey had been a success. California loomed before us and our futures began to take shape. The gleaming gold was at last ours. We each received our share of the gold, for which we had worked so hard these past four years. With joyous hearts and fond memories, we planned the manner in which we would celebrate. We decided upon a grand feast followed by a dance at which we all thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. Probably the last place we saw members of our caravan was at our outing together on June 24. Although we were glad to have reached our destination safely and successfully, there was now a twinge of sadness within our hearts.

PROPHECY

"Say, Mort, do you remember all our pals who were with us on that wagon trip we made from Weymouth in '49?"

"I sure do. It took us four years, but we finally made it—and we had fun all the way."

"I wonder, Mort, what they're all doing now."

"Say, I've got an idea. Let's find out just where they all are and put the news in a letter to be sent to all of them."

"What an idea, Mort! Everyone'll sure be pleased when they find out just what all the old gang are doing now."

ELAINE ACORN—Elaine has married a man of her dreams and is busily engaged in raising a family.

JANET AIKENS—Janet, the girl who liked filing and office work at W. H. S., has been appointed dean of the School of Business in New York City.

ALYCE AKIE—Walking into the N. N. Insurance Co. the other day, I was greeted by a dark-eyed, glamorous young receptionist who pleasantly asked my business. She seemed strangely familiar and, when someone asked for Miss Akie, I realized it was Alyce, still as pretty as ever.

BARBARA ALEXANDER — Barbara is now the head buyer in the women's department at Wm. Filene's Sons Co.

ROSE AMABILE—Rose is the owner of her own modern dress shop which features all the latest styles.

NATALIE AMES—Why is it that men show so much intrest in studying aviation? Perhaps the reason is that Natalie is the new head airline hostess of T.W.A.

JUDITH ANDERSON — Flash! Have you heard the latest news about that former Weymouth High student, Judy Anderson? She has just discovered a new scientific product—gold.

PAULINE ANDERSON — Pauline is that pretty Airline Hostess for Pan American Airlines but expects to resign soon when her handsome airman comes home.

JOAN AUSTIN — Have you any illness? Go to Dr. Joan Austin, the one and only famous surgeon, in the world. She specializes in eyes, ear, nose, and throat. She is now the chief surgeon in Johns Hopkins.

JOHN BAGEN—Perhaps youv'e been wondering who that flashy third baseman for the World Champion Braves is? Well, it's none other than "Blondie" Bagen. He has been named "Rookie of the Year", and has become very popular with the fans.

TIMOTHY BAILEY — JOSEPH BARBONE—When you read about the "Goldust Twins", you will immediately recoguize the names of your friends, Joe Barbone and Tim Bailey. Their exploits as commanders of Navy boats and in keeping peace with the world are known everywhere.

CHARLES BARCELO—Perhaps you all have been wondering who that handsome first baseman is for the Red Sox? Well, it's none other than Charlie Barcelo. His picture appears in all the papers. He has helped the Sox to win their first pennant in a decade. On the side he is raising his own baseball team.

W. ALLAN BEALS— Allan is now the brilliant young engineer in business. Having just furnished a new school for Weymouth, he is busily building a huge bridge between England and France.

LORRAINE BECK—The friendly voice you hear say "Number please?" when you pick up the telephone receiver could be Lorraine. She is a very popular telephone operator now.

ALMA BELCHER—Alma is drumming up business for the telephone company.

PHILIP BERRY—There is a new music supervisor in Weymouth now who is making music headlines with his unique orchestra composed only of baritone horns. Who is he? Phil Berry, of course.

FRANCIS BIANCO—Lieutenant Frank Bianco has the most envied job in the United States Navy. He is instructor at Crater Lake where the Waves receive their first basic training.

JOHN BRANLEY—It was just announced by the Braves Management this afternoon that for Alvin Dark and $50,000 they have acquired that sensational shortstop Jack Branley, who has been named "Most Valuable Player" , from the St. Louis Cardinals.

RONALD BRESNAHAN—When you read about the outstanding men of the year and you see Ronnie Bresnahan's name right up near the top of the list, don't be surprised. You remember that he always was smart and his rise to fame from an obscure small town Certified Public Accountant to one of the richest and most successful men in the United States comes as no surprise.

MARTHA BRIDGES—Attention 49'ers of W.H.S. If you're in the vicinity of your favorite book store, stop in and pick up "Always Rose" by our favorite journalist, Martha Bridges.

ELEANOR BROMLEY—As you walk into the First Union Bank of Boston, you will notice a pert young girl working very earnestly at a comptometer. You then recognize her to be Eleanor Bromley, another classmate from dear old Weymouth High School.

BETSY BROWN — ANN CAVANAGH—Betsy has just written a book entitled "Forever Weymouth", that has even the harshest critics cheering. It's a story about the trials and tribulations of a kindergarden teacher in Weymouth, and is drawn from the actual experiences of Teacher Ann Cavanagh.

CLARA BURTON—Next time you pick up the phone and a pleasant voice answers, "What number, please?", you'll know that is Clara.

MILDRED CAIN—DOROTHY CHADBOURNE—Mildred Cain and Dorothy Chadbourne, the two former telephone operators who established the interplanetory exchange between Mars and the Earth, gave up their careers today to get married.

MARY CANTARA—Mary is making good use of her business training obtained at Weymouth High School. She is a typist for the New York Tribune.

ESTELLE CASSESE—Estelle is now a nurse at the South Shore Hospital. Male patients seem to show rapid improvement with her around.

JEAN CAZEAULT—Jean, the cheerful air line hostess, has just completed a book about her travels through every country on the globe.

CLAYTON BROWN—DAVID CAIN—GUIDO CARACCIOLO—David, the on-the-spot news broadcaster, announced today that Clayton Brown, the world famous air ace, collapsed after setting a new, non-stop, flight to Mars. Guido Caracciolo, the eminent brain specialist, has been summoned to his side.

CAROL CHANTLER—If you happen to drop into a lawyer's office any one of these days, you will meet Carol there. She is now a legal secretary, and doing very well. She was married recently, winning her most successful case.

GLADYS CHASE—Did you say something about a trip to California? Well, I'm sure Gladys will arrange things for your comfort, for, you see, she's an air hostess now, working for the Woody Woodpecker Air Lines.

JAMES CHASE—"Jimmy", with his humorous remarks and pleasing personality is now a top notch broadcaster on his own radio station, J-I-M-E.

JOAN CHASE—Have you wondered who that charming airline hostess is on the Transatlantic Airways? Why, it's none other than our own Joan Chase.

RALPH CHASE—And why did Hingham win over Weymouth this year? Maybe the reason is that Ralph Chase is the new football coach at Hingham High.

BARBARA CHELLIS—Who owns the New Fair Publishing Company in New York? None other than the old time Reflector editor of Weymouth High, Barbara Chellis.

LOUIS CICCHESE—I was looking through a magazine the other day and came across some beautiful photographs. I looked up the photographer's name, and found that it was none other than our "Louie". He will soon start his own magazine called The Husbands' Home Companion and he will be head photographer.

ROBERT CLAFLIN—Bob has reached the highest rating in the Navy; he has retired to his little vine-covered cottage with his wife and two lovely children.

WILLIAM CLANCY—Bill has attained great success as a mortician. He will be the last friend that will ever let you down.

PAUL CLARK—The country's teen-agers are going wild over Paul Clark, the famous new singing star. He can be heard over Columbia records or seen at the "Cococabana".

DORIS CLAUSEN—Doris started to study for a modelling career, but her sudden marriage in July put her desired ambition to an end. She now lives in Brighton and has a small family of six.

ADAM CLAWSON—Adam is now the owner of that famed White Ridge Farm in northern Massachusetts. He has a beautiful wife and fine family, consisting of four boys and three girls. He also devotes much of his time to milking the cows and keeping his dairy products.

BEVERLY COBBS—Beverly, after studying hard, is now head model for I. J. Fox's beautiful coats!

ETHEL COLBY—Ethel furnishes the New Fair Publishing Company with an abundant supply of material. Her latest novel has just been published "Weymouth in the Days of Yore."

RALPH COLETTI—Ralph is now a mechanical engineer in a New York factory, foreman over a large group of men. In his spare time he teaches a body-building course at the Y. M. C. A.

VESTA COLLIER—When I was visiting a certain real estate firm the other day, I was surprised to meet an old schoolmate, Vesta Collier. She seems to be enjoying her work and, incidently, the boss has a handsome son with whom she spends most of her after-office hours.

ELIZABETH CONDON—If you happen to drop into the Ajax Travel Bureau, don't be surprised if you see Betty as the smiling receptionist.

ARNOLD COOK— Arnold is certainly enjoying himself as an ace photographer.. Who wouldn't, photographing such beautiful models all day long?

HENRY COPPOLO— The Grease Monkey Garage opened recently, and the head mechanic is Henry, formerly of Weymouth High. He has his own towing service, but sometimes he has to be towed himself.

FRANCIS CORRIDAN—After serving a year in the Air Corps, "Pap" has now married a handsome pilot. They have settled for a "lived happily ever after" life.

WILLIAM CROCKER—Billy is now coaching football for one of Weymouth's rivals, Braintree. The Braintree vs. Weymouth game will certainly be something to look forward to this year.

MARGARET CRONIN—One of the best-known speed operators of the comptometer in Boston is none other than our own Margaret Cronin.

NATALIE CUMMING—"Nat" is one of the pretty new nurses at the South Shore Hospital. Is that why there have been so many male patients lately?

JOYCE CUMMINGS—Joyce has recently completed her latest novel, The Good Old Days at Weymouth High. It certainly was a sell-out, especially for the forty-niners.

THOMAS CURRAN—The new Three-River Bridge is now under construction. I discovered that Tom was head engineer of the project. We hope he makes good bridge-work.

ANN CURTIN—I picked up the phone the other day, and was astounded to hear Ann's voice on the other end of the line. She is a telephone operator, now in the line for a promotion.

ANN CUSHING—Ann is that cute red-haired typist, working now for the Supreme Court in Washington, D. C. She is taking her work very seriously and comes home to visit a certain someone every week-end.

MARY DALESANDRO—After graduating from Burdet College, Mary has now taken over teaching on the Weymouth High School faculty.

THERESA DALTO—"Terry" is now practising dental hygiene on the students at Weymouth High School. They opened this department especially for "Terry". I'm sure if any of the Class of '49 ever have a toothache, she will be only too glad to oblige.

RAYMOND D'AMBROSIA—Ray is that tall, handsome radio man now, working for General Electric Television Company. Although he is chief radio man in shop, he also devotes much of his time to playing softball for the famed "Pizza House" team.

GLORIA DAMOISEAU—Gloria easily passed all her modeling exams and was placed by her modeling school in Bonwit Teller's of Boston. She models pajamas and tests them for their durability and comfort. She has acquired a new nickname. "Sleepy-time Gal".

JAMES DAVIS—Jim now has his own column in the "Daily Tribune", and what a column, with all of the latest news about town.

MARGERY DEAN—"Margie" is doing well these days as a supervisor at the "Number-Please" Telephone Company. You may get her on the phone sometime; and if you do, I'm sure you'll recognize her voice.

SIDNEY DeBOER—Sid has taken up engineering. Being very good at it, he has just received another large "raise." He devotes his spare time to his collection of movie projectors and women.

JOHN DELAHUNT—From what I hear, Jack entered the field of advertising. You can see much of his work in many of the magazines and newspapers. He is happily married, with enough sons to form and coach his own basketball team.

FRANK DeLORENZO—After finishing four years of radio school, Frank is now commander-in-chief of the Radio Department of the U.S. Navy.

EDWARD DeLUCA—Eddie is now proprietor of a huge business in the land of dreams that came true. He has everything a man could ask for: plenty of money, a growing business, and beautiful girls in his employ. But back home, he has another little gold mine: a beautiful wife and two lovely children, a boy named Eddie, Jr., and a beautiful little girl, Jean, named after his wife.

MARIE DeMASO—In Silkworth's, the well-known New York Department Store, I spied Marie. From her, I learned that she is doing well as head buyer and partner.

BETTY DeMELLO—Betty is working in the Boston Telephone Company, employed as long distance operator. She was recently moved to the night shift, where they found her napping after keeping a late date.

HAROLD DENNISON—Have you seen that handsome marine who recently came back to visit Weymouth High? He earned the highest rating the Marines could offer and he is very proud. He's the reason why you have seen so many of the girls joining the Marines lately.

ANN DESMOND—Nancy has now taken a position teaching the fourth grade in the Bicknell School, North Weymouth. She always did spend most of her time in North Weymouth.

CHARLOTTE DESMOND—"Tillie" is the newest telephone operator at our local office. Maybe that's why the service has been so efficient lately.

KENNETH DeYOUNG—Kennie is now a captain in the Marines and is in charge of 3,000 men. He will be going overseas next week to fulfill the Marshall Plan.

ELEANOR DiLORENZO—Someone told me that they met a very popular receptionist in Florida, while staying at the exclusive Orange Gables Hotel. I looked into the matter and found that it was Eleanor, Weymouth's contribution to the land of sunshine.

JOAN DONOVAN—Joan is now in the Weymouth Telephone Exchange as supervisor over a number of her classmates. She loves it!

PATRICIA DONOVAN — Pat has finally achieved her greatest ambition and desire. She is now medical secretary to the chief surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

PAUL DOWNING—Paul is back at Weymouth High, not as a student but as a member of the faculty. He is teaching Agriculture.

ELIZABETH DOYLE—After years of training, Betty is now head nurse of the men's ward at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

JEANNETTE DROWN—Jeannette left recently to tour the country and to give lectures on the "Perfect Telephone Operator."

MARIE DUCA—Marie, who is well-liked by her patients at South Shore Hospital, is doing well in the line of nursing.

RONALD DUKE—Since Ronnie has taken over Oral Page's former position, Weymouth High's boys have builds similar to Ronnie's.

JAMES DWYER—Waking up with the birds each morning, we see Dwyer's milk trucks rolling out to deliver milk under the new management of Jimmy Dwyer.

MARY DWYER—Mary has given up her career to devote her time to a well-known football star.

PATRICIA DWYER—If you happen to take a trip to Rio de Janiero, and, if you see a pretty blonde with flashing eyes, it is none other than Patty Dwyer.

JAMES EGAN—Have you seen the gay, dashing heartbreaker of the new movie "Lover"? Well, that was Jimmy Egan who, it has been rumored, is going to marry another actress formerly of Weymouth.

LARS EGON—Have you been visiting your old Alma Mater lately? If you have, you've probably seen Mr. Lars Egon teaching English.

KATHRYN ELWOOD—Have you seen the new teacher at Weymouth High? It's none other than Kathryn Elwood.

MARILYNN FINCH—Marilynn, who is now a secretary to a popular model agency, is rumored to have her eye on her boss. Will she be a model or a model wife?

ROBERT FITTS—The distiguished looking gentleman you see walking through the corridors at Boston University is none other than Professor Robert Fitts.

LORRAINE FLEMING—Make sure you get a copy of this year's Fashion Design, because Lorraine Fleming is the popular illustrator.

BARBARA FRASER—I walked into a famous photography building in New York and noticed a pretty, blonde, brown-eyed model. I later found out that it was Weymouth's own Barbara Fraser.

JOAN FREEMAN—If you are planning to visit our capital, why don't you stop in the White House to see Joan Freeman, now private secretary to the President of the United States. (Can you see now why we have been having so many foreign ambassadors?)

MADELINE FUCCI — I hear that "Mickey" has finally reached life's ambition—testing mattresses.

LUTHER FULTON—Luther is now an instructor at an aviation training school in Kansas City, Missouri. Don't be surprised if you see him flying over your house.

ANNE FURNESS—Anne is now teacher of old Alma Mater lately? If you have, you've SHIRLEY GALLIHER—Shirley has been travelling the world over and finally has settled in Florida as she finds it too "chilly" up north. She is a buyer for Saks Fifth Avenue.

MARGARET STEEVES—Margaret Steeves, Superintendent of Nurses at the South Shore, has been chosen to represent Weymouth at a National Hospital Convention in Paris.

GEORGE STITT—We hear that George, the national forest ranger, has finally decided to come out of the woods. It seems that he leaned too far out of a fire-watching tower, fell, broke two toes, and met one of them-there city-gal nurses while he was in the hospital.

PATRICIA SULLIVAN—Owner of the finest race horses in America is Pat Sullivan whose horse "Moonbeam" just won the Kentucky Derby.

WALTER SULLIVAN—A certain Navy lieutenant when home on leave spends his time canvassing for Hobb's Studio, as he did in his high school days.

VIRGINIA SWENSON—Red Book has just hired Virginia for their new fashion director.

HARRY THOMPSON—Now playing at the Metropolitan Opera House is the "The Barber of Saville", starring the baritone singer Harry Thompson as Figoro.

HILBERT THORNBERG—A leading chemist of the U. S. is Hilbert Thornberg, who has just invented a means of prevention against an atom war.

LORRAINE THURBERG—If there is a knock at your door, don't hesitate to answer, as it might be your "Fullerette", Lorraine Thurberg, with her household and personal supplies.

CLIFFORD TIRRELL—Cliff's one boy who went for the "draft" strong. As a result of hard work and plenty of luck, he's now Chief Draftsman at the Fore River Shipyard.

FRANCIS TIRRELL—"Zimba" never could decide what he wanted to do, so he became the wealthiest dairy farmer on the South Shore, while he was waiting for "something better to turn up."

CARL TONNESEN—Carl is a famous mechanic, now employed by the Sahara Desert Bridge-Building Company.

JOAN TOOHER—Joan is doing all the legal work for the city department and doing it well, too.

JANET TOPHAM—Janet's doing very well as a doctor's secretary, but she's had to learn to keep the smile under control. The patients were feeling well before they ever reached the doctor.

GEORGE TORREY—"A life on the ocean waves" is much more comfortable, since George became a maritime engineer.

BETTY TOWLE—Betty is now a full-fledged teacher of bookkeeping at Colby Junior College.

JOANNE TUCKER—Joanne is secretary to a carnival manager. Her motto is "Always mix business with pleasure."

RAYMOND VAILLANCOURT— Ray and his orchestra are doing a command performance at the request of King George and Queen Elizabeth of England.

CHARLES VINTON—Charlie is the sailor who saved his ship from sinking by quick thinking. He was awarded the Purple Heart.

RUTH WALLING—In a recent contest, Ruthie was picked as "Happy Little Homemaker of the Year."

ELINOR WARDWELL—Elinor has finally found success by becoming the first woman governor of Massachusetts.

EDITH WARREN—Edith is the best customer at her brand new riding stable, "Birch Rail".

BARBARA WEIDMAN—You must have seen Barb on the cover of the Ladies' Home Journal last month. And didn't she look beautiful in that wedding gown!

ANN WENTWORTH—The director of the Wentworth School of Office Machines in Boston is none other than Ann Wentworth, U. S. A.

JOHN WHITE—John, the enterprising young business man, now owns the biggest shoe-shine stand in New England.

KENNETH WHITE— We knew Ken would surprise us. Because of all the training he had at Howard Johnson's, he has become an ice-cream salesman.

PATRICIA WHITE—Pat's the smiling head stewardess for Smith Airline, Inc. Well, we never could keep her down very long!

JOAN WHITESIDE—Joan is Sister Superior of the new Catholic High School on the South Shore.

KENNETH WHITTEMORE—The first person the fellows in the draft age bump into when they are inducted into the army is Kenny Whittemore, medical examiner.

JEAN WILKE—Somewhere on the Pacific Ocean, Jean is styling all the famous people's hair for the Steven's Company, owners of luxury liners.

EDWARD WILLIAMS—Dr. Williams has just won the recent contest sponsored by the Women's Clubs of America. Each lady picked him as "the doctor whom I would like most to take my pulse".

SHEILA WOOD—Lately there has been an epidemic of fainting among the W.H.S. boys. Diagnosis: Have you seen the new school nurse, Miss Wood?

AILEEN YORK—Aileen has become a commercial artist. She's the one who draws the beautiful girls in the toothpaste ads.

KENNETH YOUNG—The fastest racing car in the country is driven by none other than Kenny Young, now nicknamed "Speed."

ARTHUR ANDERSON—Andy is the best air machinist Texas has. Better hold on, Texas, don't know how lucky you are.

CARL BACKLUND—Dickie can be seen in Remick's men's department. He sells hats, scarfs, and earmuffs.

ROBERT BARKER—Bob has become chauffeur for a beautiful young widow in Rockland. I wonder if he's making out?

FRANK BIANCO—Frankie is known to all of the South Shore as Weymouth's most promising water boy. "He sure hits that line."

ROBERT BROOK—Brookie can be found at this particular time in the South Pacific. He has worked his way to a lieutenant in the United States Navy. Best of luck to him.

HERBERT CALDWELL—Herb joined the Marines two years after school let out and has been doing well. Best of luck to him.

EDWARD CAREY—Jimmy is just starting work at the Fore River Ship Yard. Now that he has nothing to do, he hopes to become an executive.

ROBERT CARLSON—"Bob has joined the Marines and has become an excellent workman. He attributes this to his duck-hunting days as a boy.

PHILLIP CHALKE—Phil's speciality is now chicken-farming, and he can be found with a wife and four children, residing on the biggest chicken farm in New Hampshire.

RAYMOND CLARK—Ray is the man in charge of many men. He is the head warden at Alcatraz.

ALBERT CLOW—Al has opened a driving school for women. He is content, as there is never a dull moment in his work.

BERNARD COLANGELI—The workers of the Hull Construction Co., who have just completed the new modern Hull Hospital, recently said, "It couldn't have been done without the help of our great leader, Mr. Colangeli."

FRANK COLBY—Frank has just built a new garage beside the Weymouth Diner. I wonder why there?

JAMES CONCANNON—Jim has been kept very busy with his Fix-It Shop. Uncertain rumors released the facts that Jim is branching out all over the country.

JOSEPH COYLE—Joe has certainly changed since I last saw him. He is now principal of the Trade School. As I walked into the outer office, I could hear him say, "Smoking, eh? Well, we'll see you in a week!"

DAVID CULLINAN—Dave is working as a diesel engineer on a tug boat. Still up to his neck in water, I see.

JOHN CULLIVAN—"Cully" is the first-string water boy and offical face-cleaner for the Boston Yanks.

NORMAN DRETLER—Norm's greatest ambition was taking life easy. I understand his wife works and he takes care of the children—four in all.

ROBERT ERIKSON—Bob's Buick Co. has been doing a booming business. I can understand that because Bob was a dependable person.

JOHN FEE—Jack's chief ambition was to become a great carpenter; and, as far as I can see, he completed his wish, with over 150 houses to his credit.

WILLIAM GEWECKE—Bill—Oh, we can't forget Bill! Let's see, he's working at Frank Ness's garage. Working at, did I say? Pardon me, he owns it.

JOHN GRANT—Johnny has become a great success with his Pembroke Wayside Furniture Store.

JOHN HALEY—John can be found in a dark and dismal print shop hoping that dawn will never bring another set of type.

CHARLES HARTE—Charlie's cab business has been taking on new passengers lately.

DONALD HAWES—Don's been working hard for the past ten years and, it is reported, he joined a promising construction company.

GORDON HILCHEY—Gordon is now manager of the North Weymouth Bowling Alley. His training at Weymouth Vocational has been utilized in turning out new bowling pins.

PORTER HOLMES—Porter has done a stretch with the Army and has now joined in partnership in a construction company.

ROBERT KJELLMAN—Bob has recently finished engineering school and has started work for the Boston Steamship Lines. Best of luck to you, Bob.

RICHARD LA ROSSA—"Sparrow" is now writing a book entitled "Skipping School Without Getting Caught". Who could know how better?

GEORGE LANG—After studying hard at Wentworth Institute, George has become Massachusetts' leading patternmaker. It is rumored that he is going on his annual four-week vacation to Alaska to scale the unscaled mountain.

ROBERT LeBLANC—Bob is now owner of the Claw Fish Cafe. His best dish is Lobster a la Blanc.

WILLIAM MacFEE—East Brantree has added another name to the honor list as Bob received his discharge from the Navy. Where to now, Bill?

EUGENE MARKARIAN—Gene has taken over the ESSO Gas Station at Lovell's Corner, and he also sells used cars as a sideline.

GEORGE McBURNIE—Have you heard of the Buster Blueprint Co.? Well, it's run by none other than George himself, and I'm told that he plans for a new high school with smoking rooms for the students only.

JAMES McDONNELL—Jim is the latest addition to the Brantree Fire Dept—the new fire chief, of course.

CHARLES McINTIRE—Mac can be found most of the time in the north woods hunting bear and deer. My only advice is "Don't get lost, those woods are pretty big."

STANLEY MILLER—Stan has taken over Hough's Neck roller rink and finds it handy to skate at his convenience.

ROBERT NASH—Bob is a radio announcer for station WNAC. We all know where he learned his gift of gab.

JOSEPH NISTA—Diminutive Joe is a first class scat-back for the Green Bay Packers.

ROBERT O'SULLIVAN—Sully has just finished his latest book, "What to do at parties". The information should be good, if Sully wrote it.

JOHN PALLIS—John has found life easy after he bought that filling station down the road. The little Johns polish the windows, so I am told.

RICHARD PEARSON—Dick, who has been building small homes, has recently retired and is on his way toward his long awaited trip around the world.

MANUEL PIRES—Ford plant can't keep their factories with enough parts for new cars since Manuel became their top sales-manager.

ALFRED PRAY—"Ducky" has just taken "Snuffy" Smith's place as "yard bird" in the U. S. Army.

LAWRENCE RABY—Larry has opened a streamlined dog kennel. I hear he is a big success with the dogs.

ELVERT RANDALL—Albert's been chasing girls since 1949 and I think, from the latest reports, he has finally caught one.

HERBERT RIDEOUT—Herb has just recently opened a radio shop in East Weymouth. The biggest one on the South Shore.

EUGENE SCIOSCIA—Scioscia works for himself, repairing old jalopies and selling them, looking like new.

RICHARD SHEPHERD—Dick has taken over his father's mortuary and is doing a thriving business. He is classed as "Digger O'Dell" of South Weymouth.

ROYCE SHERMAN—Roy has just finished writing a book called "Don't Fall Asleep in Class". Roy should know.

ALLAN SLOANE—Al, the sheetmetal man, is now a lumberjack in northern Maine.

ROBERT SMITH—Bob for the past four years has been teaching carpentry at the Vocational School. Bob's first job was taking the boys for a week to New Hampshire to build a barn for Mr. Whittemore who retired from his position at Weymouth Trade in 1955.

VINCENT STAGLIOLA—"Stag" has spent many years in the army training new recruits. He'll tell 'em where to get off.

JOHN STEWART — John has opened a mouse-trap business on the South Shore. His motto is "First tease 'em, then squeeze them".

HERBERT TAYLOR—Bud is now a buyer and seller of guns. He ought to be good at it.

ALMON TRUMBULL—I have been informed that Al is residing in his luxurious thirty-five room mansion with maids, a butler, and swimming pool. Al worked as a carpenter for many years and has recently been recognized as America's richest millionaire.

ROBERT WALSH—Bob is chief pilot for the air force at San Antonio, Texas. Flying from Texas to Germany is his favorite trip.

EDWARD WHITE—Eddy who recently acquired the position as manager of Brown's Market in South Weymouth has been peddling a lot of corn.

LEONARD WRYE—Lenny's lumber camps have been doing fine. It was only about a month ago that he sent one hundred eighty thousand feet of lumber to Weymouth Trade.

HONOR ESSAYS

HIGH HONOR ESSAY

THE LIFE BLOOD OF DEMOCRACY

By Barbara Anne Chellis

As the strains of "America the Beautiful" reach our ears, we are again reminded of the principle of our democratic way of life, "God shed His grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shinning sea". Our forefathers, the Pilgrims, were the first to realize that they owed more to their God than to their country. The church was considered the most important part of their community. Belief in God and God's will were their sustenance. God was their Leader; and thus they gave to us a glorious heritage, freedom under His guiding hand.

Therefore, we have come to form our pattern of righteous living from God's word as expressed in the Bible, primarily in the Ten Commandments, and from the example of Christ. Each of our Presidents lays his hand upon the Bible while taking an oath to uphold the principles of our democracy. The Ten Commandments, such as "Thou shalt not steal" and "Thou shalt not kill", form the basis of our American laws. From the study of the life of Christ we have learned that we are remembered for our deeds. For, although Christ lived for only thirty-three years, the quality of His life was such that He changed the course of history. Accordingly, from these three sources, Americans have formed the belief that an ideal democracy is rooted in obedience to God's laws.

During the course of not too many years, however, the American attitude toward these fundamental concepts has greatly changed. Owing, perhaps, to an absorption of time in business, sports, and varied amusements, our people today are devoting considerably less time to Him who created them and to His foundation, the Church. First of all, the principles of materalism and secularism are filling the hearts of those who feel they do not need God. There is a growing belief that education and science can solve all our problems, can create better societies, and can control the degrees of peace and happiness. The great principles of morality and Christianity, which should be instilled in the heart of every American, are being neglected by allowing science and the ideals of modernism to be given the foremost emphasis.

Through our own fault, it appears that faith in God is being supplanted by individual selfishness and greed for power. People are becoming more and more unwilling to sacrifice. Each one is interested mainly in gaining happiness and comfort for himself, rather than in leaving to posterity an America enwrapped in harmony and security. But we must first preserve the glory of God if we wish to preserve our nation as it has been given to us in righteousness and truth. We must also take a stand against the materialistic beliefs which threaten our American way of life.

Our ancestors well understood the need of a unified faith in God. Every great American leader has forcefully and publicly expressed his convictions of this need. In our war for independence, Patrick Henry stated, "There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations". During the great Civil War Abraham Lincoln declared, with assurance, "—this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom". At the death of the same martyred Lincoln, Garfield proclaimed, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives". We Americans today are living on the ground that our forefathers died to make free. Why then do we not love and remember the God who, by the admission of our forefathers, gave them strength to fight for freedom?

Are Americans becoming an unappreciative people? If we consult statistics, we find that almost one-half of the people today admit that they do not attend church. Those same people cannot, therefore, be whole-hearted Americans, since the accepted birthright of our nation, the life blood of our democracy, the only unifying force which can defeat materialism and secularism, is faith in God, as revealed in Christianity and in Judaism, from which Christainity has sprung. We are at the darkest of all hours in our history when our very democracy is being threatened by the forces of a godless communistic philosophy, which, if whole-heartedly lived, will be more powerful than our Christian philosophy only half-lived.

If we wish to lose our great land of opportunity and prosperity, we need make no effort to subdue these forces of the materialistic believers. If we want to preserve our heritage, we must first maintain as our watchword "In God we trust". In that way we, the graduating class of 1949 and all other Americans, will be constantly reminded that we are all the children of a generous Father from whom blessings will continuously flow if we ask for them. May each one of us today and every day kneel humbly before our God, thanking Him to help us maintain our democracy, which is so important for the peace of this entire world.

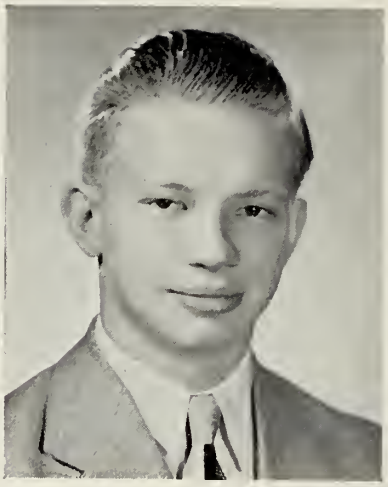
THE PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE

By Robert Bruce Marr



"The greatest and noblest pleasure which we can have in this world is to discover new truths, and the next is to shake off old prejudices." FREDERICK THE GREAT

We live in a world which science has benefited mankind in an unbelievable number of ways, and has contributed to its progress on a scale that is beyond our powers to comprehend. Man may, in several hours, make journeys that would have required several months' time a few short centuries ago. His voice is carried across continents and oceans at the speed of light, to be heard and understood by other human beings. With the tools which science has given him, man may pass over impenetrable barriers to explore formerly inaccessible parts of the earth. Science teaches him new and better ways of making the best use of the world's natural resources. His living is improved by the use of scientific wonders that would cause Aladdin to throw away his magic lamp in disgust.

Yet we must remember that this same force that brings about such improved social and economic conditions and which gathers the far reaches of the globe into a closer contact with one another is a threat as well as a blessing to mankind. For with his rockets and supersonic aircraft, his atomic bombs and bacteriological warfare, man possesss the seeds of self-destruction. If the practical applications alone were the guiding principle of science, then the human race would be doomed at the hands of men who use the fruits of science to satisfy their own individual greed and thirst for power.

But the true scientist looks upon the practical applications as only the by-products of his true goal, which is to seek and find the real nature of the universe in which he lives. When Galileo formulated his fundamental laws of motion, he was trying to understand the workings of nature, and had no thought of machines which might be guided by his principles. Maxwell, in his endeavors to discover the nature of light, little knew that his findings would lead in time to the phenomenon which we call radio. Naturally, the scientist regards the practical applications as valuable to himself and to his fellow man, but he is moved by a higher force than the wish to make life easier.

The spirit of science, then, is primarily a profound curiosity on the part of the scientist. He is constantly exploring the unknown, searching for new truths only because they are truths, seeking new laws that will bring some mystery out into the light, spurred on only by the desire to comprehend the universe. This doctrine of constant searching after knowledge, if adopted by all men, could be of considerable value in a world in which progress is still retarded by ignorance, and by fears, superstitions, and irrational ideas that lead to devasting wars.

Science, however, is also the spirit of courage, tolerance, and humaneness, and in these three great virtues, science suggests ways in which mankind in general should conduct itself in order to secure greater harmony among its quarrelling factions.

The scientist has the courage to cast aside century-old notions in place of newer and better ideas. Contrary to the popular trend, the scientist does not flee from an idea because it is new. If science had rejected the theories of such men as Newton, Darwin, and Maxwell, merely because they broke down some of their cherished beliefs, how could we possibly have made the progess which we look back on today? Similarly, if we try to reject Einstein's relativity and other revolutionary ideas, because they are contrary to our prejudices, how can we hope to look forward to greater advances in human comfort and in our knowledge of nature? We, like the scientist, must learn to rejoice in each new discovery, even though it means a revision of some of our pet ideas.

Science also teaches mankind how to be tolerant of the points of view of others. Through the ages, science has been a co-operative venture undertaken by men and women respresenting every race, creed, and nationality. Archimedes was a Greek, Copernicus, a Pole; Galileo, an Italian; Newton, an Englishman; the Curies were French and Polish. The scientist, realizing how little mankind really knows and how much remains to be learned, cannot afford to be scornful of another man's discoveries and theories. He must be ready and willing to change his own point of view in the light of evidence, and the source of the new evidence should make little difference in final outcome.

Lastly, science is humane. It has been our custom to poke fun at the scientist as an absent-minded, bewhiskered old man who shuts himself in his laboratory, completely unaware of the cares af the world. There are, doubtless, such individuals to be found, but such a picture is certainly an unfair one, and is not representative of the true spirit of science. The scientist, notwithstanding the abstract nature of his work, is a man, and as such is deeply cocerned with the fate of his kind. This has become especially so in recent years, when he has seen his theories and discoveries put to destructive uses by man in his futile struggle to gain more power than the other fellow.

Albert Einstein, whose work could hardly be much further removed from the common interest of life, had this to say when he addresed the students of the California Intitute of Technology in 1931. "Why does this magnificent applied science, which saves work and makes life easier, bring us so little happiness? The simple answer is: Because we have not yet learned to make sensible use of it."

"It is not enough that you should understand about applied science, in order that your work may increase man's blessings," Einstein went on. "Concern for the man himself and his fate must always form the chief interest of all technical endeavors. Never forget this in the midst of your diagrams and equations."

Thus we see the scientist as a man whose chief interest is the accumulations and simplification of further knowledge of nature. To achieve this aim, he must face his task with courage and with tolerance. We also see that the scientist recognizes the greatness of man as well as the greatness of the universe, for we find him able to set aside his test tubes and atom-smashers and join with his fellow men in their common interest.

Though the scientist is conscious of the great power he has acquired through his solving of some of the mysteries of nature, he is also aware that the more he learns the more he discovers that remains to be learned; the realization of this fact makes him humble. As Bertrand Russell put it, "We know very little, and yet it is astonishing that we know so much, and still more astonishing that so little knowledge can give us so much power."

The scientist carries an optimistic outlook of the future. He sees man in time shaking off his petty differences and developing a keener understanding of his world and himself. He realizes that science alone cannot bring about these conditions, but he confidently awaits the day when human nature, through education and religion, shall reach its maturity and man shall be in a position to receive all the benefits which science offers him. That day may never come, but it is the ultimate goal toward which all men, whether scientists or not, are striving.

Lets us look ahead with science over the road of progress to the pinnacle of perfection, which, with God's help, we may some day be privileged to ascend.

THE ROAD TO A BETTER DEMOCRACY

By Barbara Eleanor Nelson

FROM the moment we began our career as students, we have been travelling on a long, upward road, the foundation of which was laid in Massachusetts by Horace Mann over a hundred years ago. That road, which we now realize to be of vital importance in furthering true democratic living, is Education.

The value of such a road has certainly been great, for in what other way could the many people who have settled on our shores learn our language, understand our laws, acquire a basic knowledge of our government, vote intelligently, or exemplify American ideals? Dr. Payson Smith once said, "Society must insure itself through the education of all the people."

In the field of education the progress of the first pioneers was seriously impaired by the lack of transportation, necessary equipment, and teachers adequately trained for the profession.

As time went on, however, educational crusaders banded together to improve existing conditions and to hasten the development of this vital road. Several states began to establish normal schools to train teachers; others introduced free public elementary schools and made attendance obligatory. Gradually these crusaders won the support of the general public who finally realized how important this road of education was in building a better democracy.

Once the foundation was firmly laid, the road rapidly expanded until it was divided into three main lanes: the intellectual, the physical, and the spiritual. It is these lanes, in which we have been travelling during the past twelve years, that have been influential in developing our personalities.

While advancing in the first lane, that of intellect, we have learned the fundamental principles of government, acquired a better understanding of human nature, developed a clearer outlook on life through science, and have to reason logically and to express ideas clearly.

In order to make the most of the lessons taught us on this road, we have found it necessary to develop ourselves physically, for without energy and strength it is impossible to survive or to break down the barriers which retard progress.

It was in the third lane, however, that we began to realize that without hope and faith in God, we could not expect to find courage to overcome obstacles or the strength to journey onward.

Moreover, these three lanes, combined into one main highway, have developed us socially, for as we have travelled on, we have met people of every denomination, in every walk of life, all searching for the same goal—a better democracy. By working and planning together, we have learned to accept people the way we find them and now realize that to have a road wide enough for all, we must compromise, cooperate, develop self-control, and respect others. Having acquired a proper attitude toward life, we have tried to help those less fortunate than we.

Perhaps one of the greatest lessons we have learned is to think of others rather than of ourselves alone; for, as John Ruskin wrote, "Youth, freed from desire for personal power and self-advancement has gone a step farther in the quest for Democracy." He also said that we advance on the road of life not by making ourselves conspicuous, but by becoming great in heart and mind.

As we set forth on this road anew today, with more responsibilities, duties, aims, and ambitions than ever before, let us ask God for strength to better our democracy, for courage to live up to our motto, "Onward, Forty-Niners," and for the power to heed these lines of Emerson:

"So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, THOU MUST,
The youth replies, I CAN!"

ACTIVITIES

Reflector

With this issue the 1948-1949 Reflector Staff ends a year full of interesting and enjoyable work. Many changes and additions have been attempted, and seem to have met with success.

The staff was host at the first meeting of the Southeastern Massachusetts League of School Publications, and attended the Plymouth Meeting on March 31 and the Dedham meeting on May 19.

We should like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the teachers, the pupils for their support, our faculty advisers, Mr. Brown, Miss White, Miss Silvester, and Mr. Steele, and to our printing instructor, Mr. Duncan, for their co-operation and assistance.

May those who succeed us have as pleasant a year as did we, the Staff of 1948-1949.

Student Council

In addition to performing the regular duties of organizing the lunch room and fire drills, the Student Council sponsored the annual Victory Dance on December 10, 1948, with Art Jackson's orchestra supplying the music.

Delegates and representatives attended the Fall Convention of the Southeastern Branch of Associated Bodies of Student Councils at North Attleboro High School on November 17, 1948, where Dr. Judson Butler, Dean of Boston University, gave an address on "Training for Leadership."

The cheering section of the Thanksgiving Day Rally was composed of Student Council members who also sponsored other assemblies during the year.

To complete its activities for this year, the Student Council worked with the town committe to promote the successful Tuberculosis X-Ray Drive which began in Weymouth on March 21, 1949.

May the future members of the Student Council have a successful year and enjoy their work as much as we have.

Officers for 1948-1949

Senior Play

On February 10 and 11, the Class of '49, under the competent direction of Miss Edna Flaherty of the faculty, presented "The Fighting Littles," a comedy by Caroline Fraucke, adapted from the novel of the same title by Booth Tarkington.

The story meant just what the title said. It was one of the episodes, as Filmer would say, in the life of the fighting Littles. Goody loved Ham and he loved her, but Mr. Little didn't exactly like Ham. Filmer loved Antoinette and the feeling was mutual. Mrs. Little and Olita tried desperately to keep peace in the house, while Almatina tried to keep it together. Mr. Little thought that Norman Peel was just the man for Goody, but Henriette thought he was the man for her. Mrs. Harpeddle, Norman's aunt, and her son, Dicky, came to tea along with Miss Pologa, one of Miss Harpeddle's dancers who communes. Cucko and Screwball, two of Goody's friends, came, too, and pademonium broke loose; Ham emerged the hero and won the girl. Filmer won Antoinette, Henriette, Norman, while Mrs. Little gained peace and quiet—for a while.

THE CAST

Mr. Little	Allan Patterson

Cheerleaders

THE cheerleaders this year have lived up to their reputation as the prettiest and best on the South Shore. They went to all the football games and most of the basketball games. Some of the girls went to the State Meet at Boston Garden to spur on the track team.

Priscilla Hall moved to New Hampshire and her loss was really felt, but the substitutes filled her shoes admirably.

This year's substitutes, who filled in very well when one of the regulars was absent, were Barbara Graham, Nancy Norwood, Doris Donaldson, Marjorie Daniels, and Joanne McKinnon.

Captain Mary Loud, Barbara Weidman, Ann Russo, and Janet Melville are graduating and they leave the nucleus of their wonderful squad to next year's captain. Good Luck!

Football

In spite of the numerous injuries which plagued the team, Weymouth had a good season. With the excellent material he developed this year, Coach Harry Arlanson has the nucleus of next year's squad and should be able to mould it into a first-class ball team. Weymouth's promotion to a Class-A bracket means a stiffer schedule next year; nevertheless the team should do well.

Weymouth 21	Gardner 13
Weymouth 7	Belmont 0
Weymouth 20	Brookline 0
Weymouth 20	North Quincy 0
Weymouth 6	Quincy 14
Weymouth 6	Brockton 13
Weymouth 21	Braintree 12
Weymouth 20	Dedham 0
Weymouth	Revere (Not Played)
Weymouth 36	Hingham 0

Basketball

WEYMOUTH's basketball season of 1948-1949 could not be classed as highly successful, but it did provide many thrilling moments to the fans.

One of the most exciting games was the first Hingham game which Weymouth won by a score of 43 to 27. The starting team for the most part of the season was Captain Jack Delahunt and Bill Sprague as forwards, Norm Wright as center, and Jack Sheehan and Jim Kane at the guard positions.

Weymouth 32	Attleboro 63
Weymouth 43	Hingham 27
Weymouth 28	Brockton 40
Weymouth 36	North Quincy 45
Weymouth 35	Thayer 49
Weymouth 38	Plymouth 30
Weymouth 35	Braintree 49
Weymouth 67	Cathedral High 26
Weymouth 41	Braintree 62

Cross Country

UNDER the efficient direction of Coach Page, Weymouth High's Cross Country team of 1948-1949 did much better than last year's squad by winning five out of eight meets as compared to two out of eight last year. The boys also took fifth place in the State Meet, thanks to the excellent running of Mike Murphy, George MacMullen, and Bob Haviland, who placed third, sixth, and seventeenth respectively.

Low score wins:

Weymouth	24	Plymouth	32
Weymouth	25	Rockland	32
Weymouth	18	Brookline	40
Weymouth	38	Braintree	23
Weymouth	27	Quincy	28
Weymouth	26	Milton	29
Weymouth	30	North Quincy	29
Weymouth	31	Brockton	27

Track

THOUGH last spring Coach Page's Track Team had worse luck than usual, the team placed fourth in the South Shore Interscholastic Meet behind Brockton, Quincy, and Braintree.

However, with the able assistance of Dick Smith, Mike Murphy, Luther Fulton, and Ed Warrell, Weymouth placed second in the State Meet, losing by only one half a point.

The schedule was as follows:

April 28	North Quincy at Weymouth
May 4	Weymouth at Quincy
May 11	Brookline at Weymouth
May 17	Weymouth at Brockton
May 21	Interscholastics at Weymouth
May 24	Weymouth at Braintree
May 28	State Meet at Newton
June 2	Weymouth at Hingham
June 6	Weymouth at Milton

Baseball

With the return of many of last year's letter-men, Coach Harry Arlanson is again looking forward to a successful season. This year Weymouth is playing a thirteen-game schedule as compared with eleven games last year. The newcomers to Weymouth's program are Stetson, Milton, and Cathedral.

The schedule is as follows:

April 23	Weymouth at Milton
April 29	Weymouth at Brockton
May 3	Weymouth at North Quincy
May 5	Weymouth at Cathedral
May 11	Weymouth at Stetson
May 13	Weymouth at Braintree
May 17	Cathedral at Weymouth
May 20	North Quincy at Weymouth
May 24	Braintree at Weymouth
May 27	Stetson at Weymouth
May 31	Brockton at Weymouth
June 3	Weymouth at Hingham
June 7	Hingham at Weymouth

French Club

ONCE again the French Club has enjoyed another successful year under the competent direction of Miss Canning. After the business meeting, which was conducted entirely in French, a social hour was held, planned by the entertainment committee appointed for the meeting.

Again this year the French Club, with the aid of the Spanish Club, presented the Language Appreciation Program in the auditorium. Four plays were presented about each of the four languages offered at the high school, English, Spanish, Latin, and French.

The club wishes to thank Miss Canning for her wonderful leadership. A cordial welcome is extended to all taking a second or third year of French next year.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club was started this year under the direction of Miss Palmer. The officers were Betsy Brown, president; Elinor Wardwell, vice-president; Betty Doyle, secretary; and Natalie Cumming, treasurer. The business meetings were conducted for the most part in Spanish; after the meetings, many interesting programs were presented as entertainment. Some of the activities included listening to records, learning songs, reading from a Spanish newspaper, and corresponding with students in Spanish-speaking countries. The members of the club enjoyed a Christmas party and attended the Open House sponsored by the French Club. They presented a Spanish play, "La Prueba", at the Language Appreciation Rally. The membership of this year was approximately twenty-five, and it is hoped that the club will continue to grow and become one of the foremost organizations in Weymouth High School.

Ski Club

ANOTHER season of the Weymouth High Ski Club came to a close last spring. The membership has increased to approximately fifty pupils. The purpose of our club is to instruct students in the art of skiing, also to stimulate their intrest in this sport.

The club, supervised by Mr. Cleaves and Miss Hill, elected James Hasset, president; Gus Peterson, vice-president; Mildred Nyberg, secretary; and Jane MacGoldrick, treasurer. Ronald Heitman was our technical adviser.

We were unable to do much skiing this year because of the deficiency of snow. However, the group enjoyed a wonderful all-day trip to Brattleboro, Vermont.

The present members wish to thank Miss Hill and Mr. Cleaves for all the help and support they have given us. We should also like to invite all those interested to join our club in the coming year.

Audio-Visual Club

The Audio-Visual Club, under the direction of Mr. Cleaves, was organized in September, due to the early scheduling of films. Everyone received a four-week instruction period to learn the common machines and an additional four weeks for other equipment. At the completion of the course everyone was issued a projectionist license to show his capability of operating.

The name of the club was changed this year from the "Projection Club" to the "Audio-Visual Club" because the club has many other duties than just operating projectors. The club's duties are to show motion pictures, make recordings, and do other visual aids work.

We should like to extend our gratitude to Mr. Cleaves for his work and wish him successs and happiness with the club in the years to come.

Camera Club

THE Camera Club, or the "Shutter Bugs," under the supervision of Mr. Ghiorse, was held in W. H. S. for the first time this year.

During the year we have learned how to take pictures, develop and enlarge them, and how to operate a movie camera. Two outings were held; many pictures were taken and everyone had a good time.

Throughout the year contests were held on seasonal subjects. Mr. Whipple and Mr. Ghiorse were the judges.

The officers for the year were:

Donald Coleman, President
Ray Tobey, Treasurer
Edna Kimball, Secretary

Oratorical Contestants

THE annual oratorical contest, sponsored by the Weymouth American Legion Post 79, was held at Legion Hall on February 1, 1949.

The subjects of the talks by the contestants were:

Mary Hickey—"The Rights and Privileges We Share Under the Constitution";
Janet Melville—"Our Constitution—Temple of American Liberty";
Barbara Nelson—"An American Citizen's Rights and Responsibilities Under the Constitution";
Elinor Wardwell—"The Constitution in a Changing World".

In a close contest, Elinor Wardwell was judged the winner; Barbara Nelson was chosen as alternate. Judges of the contest were:

Miss Alice White, Weymouth High School
Miss Ethel MacDougall, Weymouth High School
Mrs. Flora H. McGrath, Weymouth School Department
Miss Virginia Nye, Weymouth High School
Mr. Prescott B. Brown, Weymouth High School

CLASS WILL

WE, the members of the Class of 1949 of Weymouth High School, Town of Weymouth, County of Norfolk, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being possessed of highly developed minds and fully trained memories and being about to pass out of Weymouth High School, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking any records heretofore made by us.

FIRST—To Mr. Mapes and the School Committee, we leave the gratitude of the Senior Class for all the things they have done to make Weymouth High School as fine as it is.

SECOND— To Mr. Whittle we leave an automatic door which limits to five the number of students waiting in the office.

THIRD—To Mr. Lyons we leave a "hookey detector" for use on all the habitual absentees.

FOURTH—To Mr. Whipple we leave a new pen—one that writes for ten years without refilling—so that he can make out admittance slips without stopping for a new supply.

FIFTH—To the faculty we leave all the problems of new freshmen who won't know so much and new seniors who will know too much.

SIXTH—To the janitors we leave our home rooms, the fun we had in them, and the home-room teachers who have worked for us and with us, our textbooks—some well-worn and untouched—our pride in being seniors, our graduation thrills, our wishes for success.

SEVENTH—To the sophomores we leave our best wishes for future success at Weymouth High School.

EIGHTH—To the freshmen we leave the whole left wing with all its many guards.

NINTH—To Room 211 we leave a larger closet so that Miss White will not have to struggle through the coming winter rearranging coats.

TENTH—To Room 212 we leave a picture of Martha to keep George company.

ELEVENTH—To Room 215 we leave a full-length mirror to be used for the general up-keep and as a morale builder for the senior girls.

TWELFTH—To Room 216 and its students we leave the problem of getting the back door open from the outside.

THIRTEENTH—To Room 217 we leave a permanent mechanic to deal with loud speaker repairs.

FOURTEENTH—To Room 218 we leave a mop and pail for cleaning purposes, and an automatic curtain raiser and straightener for temperamental window shades.

FIFTEENTH—To Room 307 we leave an elevator to and from the lunch room and a megaphone for soft-spoken teachers.

SIXTEENTH—To Room 3 we leave one set of mar-proof desk tops so the boys will not have to pay the fee for refinishing desks. We also leave a vest-pocket fire extinguisher for putting out occasional fires in said pocket.

Signed and sealed by the Class of 1949 on this the twenty-second day of June, in the year our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine (1949).
